

Table of Contents

- Intro: Your future is in your hands Page 3
Equip yourself with self-knowledge and important skills that will give you a competitive edge as you grow up and prepare to become a respected and valued member of the workforce!
- Section 1: What I love about me Page 4
How well do you know yourself? Do you have undiscovered talents, interests and goals? The sooner you start your journey of self-discovery, the sooner you'll feel more confident about your future.
- Section 2: My thoughts about my future Page 5
Clues about what will make you happy on the job can be uncovered as you start exploring your career options. Take time to think about the people, places, environments and values that bring out your personal best.
- Section 3: The working world Page 6
A basic understanding of the employment world will give you self-confidence about entering it. These exercises will help you learn how to research and analyze career options throughout your life and to start to understand the hiring process from an employer's perspective.
- Section 4: Open your eyes Page 7
Look at career opportunities from a whole new perspective! These creative activities and exercises will help you explore the world around you and sharpen your research, reporting, analytical and communication skills along the way.
- Section 5: Cha-ching! Page 9
Amateurs do not get paid. Professionals do. That's why growing up and getting a job is so much fun! Learn how to connect-the-dots between money and career exploration so you have one more guidepost on your road to career happiness.

Table of Contents (cont.)

- Section 6: Smarts Page 11
Educational opportunities are as much a privilege as getting a job. Start connecting-the-dots between the two and start appreciating how far your school work can take you.
- Section 7: Bench press Page 13
Strong communication skills are essential to success in any field. Have fun with creative exercises that stretch your imagination, performance skills and your salesmanship!
- Section 8: Taking the high road Page 15
Plunge right into highly relevant discussion topics and thought-provoking questions about professional ethics, employment laws and workplace values.
- Section 9: Interviewing Page 16
Preparation, practice and performance are key to a great interview! Looking at the process from the employee and the employer sides is a great place to start developing your interview skills.
- Section 10: Pay it forward Page 18
“Giving back” to society is more important and more fulfilling than taking from it. Start thinking about the ways you can help make the world a better place than you found it.
- Section 11: My career path Page 19
Use what you’ve learned to keep moving forward in life. Write down what you’ve learned about yourself, the world around you and your place in it. These important thoughts and insights can help form the basis for your education goals and the exciting career paths that will open for you.